Logpoint and SecurValue partner to secure organizations in Southern Europe

The Managed Service Provider SecurValue partners with Logpoint to help organizations manage risk and mitigate cyber threats in the South European market with enhanced defense capabilities.

COPENHAGEN, January 22, 2024 – Logpoint announced today a partnership with the Italian Managed Security Service Provider (MSSP) SecurValue, providing cybersecurity services to help customers detect and respond to cyber threats. Armed with Logpoint’s modern SIEM+SOAR solution, SecurValue can offer more robust threat detection and response, real-time data analysis, early detection of data breaches, and easy implementation of compliance requirements.

“We’re happy to partner with SecurValue to help organizations strengthen security posture and cyber resilience. They share our vision for conducting long-term business in Southern Europe,” says Christian Pijoulat, Regional Director SEMEA at Logpoint. “SecurValue has a tailored approach to their customers, based on skilled cybersecurity professionals and trusted technologies, and we’re proud that Logpoint’s solution is now a part of that.”

The Southern European market is preparing for the local implementations of the Network Information Security \(NIS\)2 directive from the European Union to increase cyber resilience across the EU. The directive will expand the existing regulations within data and cybersecurity, introducing stricter requirements for a broad range of sectors. Non-compliance and failure to report incidents will result in significant fines and sanctions.

“We’re excited to add Logpoint to our portfolio to offer our customers improved security capabilities, streamlined operations, and enhanced compliance adherence,” says Fabio Cagna Vallino, Cyber Security BU Director at SecurValue. “CEOs across the region are becoming aware that cyber threats are a top concern and that investments in cybersecurity are essential to minimize cyber risk. Especially small and medium-sized organizations are struggling with the lack of cybersecurity professionals trained to handle threats effectively, which leaves them at a major risk of exposure.”

SecurValue will offer the Logpoint SIEM+SOAR solution, which analyzes security incidents and automates the investigation of threats, improving cyber intelligence, reducing cybersecurity risk, and accelerating threat detection, investigation, and response. SecurValue will also use Logpoint Director, a platform that helps MSSPs and MDRs update, manage, and monitor large and multitenant deployments.
